Case Study

Gordian Health Management is a licensed UR agent. Our experience preparing the necessary documentation for successful completion of the application process is unparalleled. Gordian experts will assist your organization as you gather the necessary documentation and prepare to receive your own UR license.

The requirements for licensure are cumbersome and difficult to understand. If your organization's goal is to achieve UR licensure, Gordian can help provide the expertise necessary to make the process smooth and efficient.

Groups interested in obtaining their own UR license include:

- Large physician groups
- Independent medical management companies
- Integrated networks

The Challenge:

A large group of multi-specialty physicians wanted to enter the risk contracting market due to a desire to be independent and manage their own medical cost. The group did not know how to prepare for the UR license application, nor did they know how to prepare for delegation in order to receive a risk contract.

The Solution:

Gordian was called to prepare the license application and assist the group so they would be ready for UR delegation from a large health plan.

The Benefits:

With Gordian's expert experience, the physician group was able to save time and money and avoid costly mistakes. Processes were put in place to help educate the physicians about the complexities of managing risk and provide them with the necessary information to be successful in their goal.

If your group wants to be prepared for the risk management market, make Gordian your first and last call.
